WAR CRIPPLES HAPPY OVER NEW LIMBS

British soldiers crippled in the war and who have just received the artificial limbs that will enable them to get back to some sort of work in civil life.

FRENCH SCOUTS SNIPING

These French scouts have spied a German in his advanced post near La Bassée, from which he communicates by phone with the trenches. From behind the wall of a ruined French chateau the scouts took shots at the enemy.

Soft Answer.

A tramp approached a certain Downs home the other morning, rapped on the back door, and when the lady of the house appeared, he began to clear his throat, preparatory to telling his hard-luck story. "Get away from here," said the woman. "I never feed professional bums."

"But, madam, I am not a professional bum," said the tramp. "I am a psychologist traveling in the interest of science. I read character at a glance. In looking into the soulful depths of your beautiful eyes, I read there that you are by nature a kind-hearted, gentle, generous woman. It is these noble impulses and the contemplation of charitable deeds that keep you looking so young and handsome."

"You poor, tired, hungry man," said the woman. "Come inside and I will give you some breakfast."

Crucial Decision.

"You say this speech you are preparing will be the turning point of your career?"

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "This speech will be the effort of my life. It will decide whether I will have to keep depending on politics for a living or whether I can go on the lecture platform and make some real money."

Busy Boy.

Someone told the Kansas City Star the story of the farmer boy who offered to pull a motorist out of a mud-hole for $3. There was much haggling but the boy remained firm and the motorist paid the price. As he prepared to resume his journey the motorist asked the boy how much money he had held up that day and the boy said: "Five dollars."

"Now, suppose the motorist had offered you $100?"

BUT THE CANARY CAME BACK

All His Master's Perilous Climbing of Window Ledges Amounted to Naught.

Babe is a canary in C. F. Glenway's cleaning shop, 459 East Ninth street. Babe wanted to see the great out-of-doors. He scouted this morning rainy and windy and slipped through the screen door with one of the cleaner's partners. Glenway climbed window sills on the top floor of the Studio building to catch the runaway. Babe finally flew back to the door of the shop and entered of his own accord. Glenway's efforts to catch the truant canary this morning interested many pedestrians. A large crowd gathered to watch him pursue Babe at the dizzy height.—Kansas City Star.

Secretary Birds.

Secretary birds are so called because of the quill-like plumes about their ears.

Placing Him.

"Pop?"

"Well?"

"Is the weather man the man who predicts what kind of weather we are going to have?"

"No, the weather man predicts the kind of weather we are not going to have."

Equivocal.

"Are you in favor of this anti-kissing crusade?"

"I certainly would not my face against the practice."

Not a Convincing Influence.

"Do you believe in capital punishment?"

"No," replied Mr. Growcher. "So many people who seem legally liable to it manage to escape that when a man actually undergoes it, he looks merely like a victim of hard luck."

The Ruling Passion.

"You are saved!" cried the rescuers as they dragged the gasping miner from the water.

"No," he weakly replied. "I'm not saved; I'm spent."

SWINGS BOY FROM PATH OF ENGINE

Railroad Company Will Reward Brakeman Who Risked Life to Save Boy.

New York.—Because he risked his life to save that of a little boy, Harry E. Ducey, a brakeman employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, received a letter of congratulation and special commendation from the acting president of the company. Incidentally, he is in line for immediate promotion.

Ducey, twenty-seven years old, and for five years in the service of the railroad, was on a train of loaded cars descending a heavy grade on the Snowshoe branch of the Tyrone division of Centre county, Pennsylvania. As the train swept around the curve the rails for a great distance ahead were hidden from the view of the engine driver by a string of empty cars drawn up on a siding.

Suddenly the form of a boy, three years old, son of a miner, appeared between the rails in front of the train. The engine driver at once threw on the brakes, but the weight of the loaded cars was so great that they slid along the wet rails at great speed.

Without a moment's hesitation Ducey, realizing the sliding of the cars meant death for the child, ran along the running board at the side of the engine, crept down to the pilot, gripped an iron bar with one hand and then reached out with the other. He caught the child firmly by the clothes, lifted him free of the engine and swung him back upon the running board and to safety.

Ducey is an athlete and active in the affairs of the Young Men's Christian association. So greatly did the officers of the railroad admire his bravery that his photograph and an account of his act were ordered printed and distributed to every employee of the railroad.

SHOCK TO KINSTON MORALS

Negroes Play Checkers on Privileged Street of St. North Carolina Town.

Kinston, N. C.—Charles Dunn, a negro, and a man named Canady were playing checkers on the porch of an ancient building at the corner of Queen and King streets recently when a cop caught sight of them.

It isn't a crime to play checkers, but few people are aware of it though it is a misdemeanor under the city code to play games of amusement on Queen street.

What the court had to determine, it was stated after the arrest, was whether the feet of Dunn and Canady, who were seated in the porch, were touching the pavement or not. Their legs were dangling near the ground but not actually touching it.

It was the first arrest, so far as any one could recall, under the ordinance.

GOAT LOSES HEROIC FIGHT

Makes Courageous Effort to Butt Long Island Express Train Off the Track.

Sayville, L. I.—Because Martin Conway is section boss at Sayville his goat seems to have the notion that he owns the track, or at least holds undisputed right of way on the Long Island railroad. He protested against the Patchogue Express, which had just pulled out of Sayville station, running with wide open throttle, and took his position on the track. The engineer slowed up just as the animal locked horns with the cowcatcher and for a quarter of a mile the train backed the goat the determined animal butting the cowcatcher all the way.

The goat was unable to shove the train backward, and when a boy signaled to him he turned off the track and allowed the train to pass.

GIRL SAVED BY STALLION

Horse Charges Lion as it Approaches Spring Upon Daughter of Texas Rancher.

Alpine, Tex.—A stallion and a lion have saved the life of Ethel Kester, wood, the thirteen-year-old daughter of E. E. Kester, a cattlemen, when she was attacked by a mountain lion.

The girl was riding on the back of the lion when it leaped at a colt. The colt escaped and the lion charged on the girl and her mother.

The stallion coming out of the brush, charged upon the lion as it charged upon the girl and the lion took to flight on the spot.

Table Dainties from Sunny Climes

From tropical Hawaii, home of the sweetest, most luscious pineapple, comes the one; and California, where the tenderest asparagus grows, supplies the other. The Libby care and cleanliness back of both is a warrant of a product that will please you. Insist on Libby's at your grocer's.

Working Up to it.

"What's the matter, Adolphus? Why, you look nervous and you can't keep still."

"You notice it, do you? Fine! Fine! I'm smoking 100 cigarettes a day, drinking about twenty cups of strong coffee, not to mention all the other things."

"But what's the idea?"

"Don't interrupt me, old fellow. I'm just on the verge of inventing a new dance."—Life.

Competitive Yearning.

"Catch any fish while you were away last summer?"

"Yes. Had some wonderful fishing."

"Aren't you going to tell us about it?"

"No. When you tell a fish story you merely invite someone to open up and tell a bigger one. I had such wonderful fishing that I want to go on thinking about it as about the best that ever happened."

Might Destroy Confidence.

"I want to see your beauty editor," said the caller at the sanctum of a popular magazine.

"Are you following her advice?"

"I am."

"Got confidence in it?"

"I have."

"Then you don't want to see her."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Medal of Honor Awarded

Gold Medal Awarded New Perfection Heater

Look for the Triangle

The New Perfection Line

The Superior Jury of Awards of the Panama-Pacific Exposition has awarded the New Perfection Line a medal of honor—this being the only line to be so distinguished.

In addition, the NEW PERFECTED Heater received an individual Gold Medal, as did each of the oil-burning devices, bearing the NEW PERFECTED name.

In all, it was a wonderful triumph—a sweeping tribute to quality.

The quality you should demand when you buy a heater.

You need the NEW PERFECTED because it is the greatest comfort you can install in your home; an aid to good health; a means to economy; the cleanest heat you can use.

Easy to care for; ready by striking a match; burns 10 hours on one gallon of oil; can't smoke. No trouble to re-wick, because wick and carrier are combined—the fresh wick all ready to put in, clean, smooth and ready to light.

Your dealer has the NEW PERFECTED Oil Heater on exhibition, the heater that won the Gold Medal, from the Medal of Honor Line. He will be glad to show you the different models.
